The funeral was held from the residence, No. 318 South Fifth Street, at 3 o'clock Saturday, January 7th, Rev. Dr. Young officiating.

Who are these in bright array,
This immemorable throng,
Round the altar, night and day,
Tuning their triumphant song?

These through flery trials trod; These from great affliction came;

Clad in raiment pure and white,

Victor palms in every hand, Through their great Redcemen's might, More than conquerors they stand, Joy and gladness banish sighs; Perfect love dispells their fears; And forever from their eyes God shall wipe away their tears.

IMPORTANT CASE.

Magnificent Speech of Frank W. Christian Before Bristol Bar. BRISTOL, VA. Jun. 7.—A case of much importance has just been argued here before Hon. John W. Price, judge of the Corporation Court.

The original charter of the South and Western Rullway Company, the company or Apri, how, and contact and to refer the said company shall, in two years from the pussage of this act, have thirty miles of ruliroad in operation in Virginia, or the rights heroby granted shall from the passage of this act, have thirty miles of railroad in operation in Virginia, or the rights' hereby granted shall cease.

The company did not, "In two years from the passage of this act, have thirty miles of railroad in operation in Virginia," and has never built or operated any railroad in Virginia.

On the 9th day of November, 1904, the Corporation Commission granted to the South and Western Railway Company what was called an amendment or extension of its charter, the intended effect of which was, among other things, to prolong the existence of the company. The South and Western R. R. Co. is attempting to acquire, by condemnation proceedings, rights of way in Scott and Wise countles. Va., and the case which was argued here before Judge Price was in the form of a quo warranto proceeding, instituted in the name of the State of Virginia at the relation of the Virginia and Southeastern Railway Company, a company of which Henry K. Mctiarg, of New York is the president, and a number of private individuals, questioning the legal existence of the South and Western Railway Company, and bringing it before the court to show cause why its corporate franchises shall not be declared forfeited and annulled.

The most interesting question growing out of this proceeding is whether or not the Corporation Commission has any power under the law to grant an amendment which in effect would be a remission of the forfeiture provided for in the original charter. Relators contend that this attempted amendment of the charter was wholly void, because the Legislature alone has the power, under the Constituty, to remit forfeitures.

The argument of the case consumed one entire day. The case was argued for the relation by J. C. Byars of Bristol; J. F. Buillit, of Big Stone Gap, and Frank W. Christian, of Richmond, and for the South and Western Railway Company by J. Norment Powell, of Bristol; R. T. Ir.
